1. Summary of Previous Meeting

In the last client meeting, we showcased our brainstorming ideas. Hermanto presented a tower defense game demo, and I shared ideas for a puzzle-based game. Our supervisor liked both ideas. Later in the week, during our meeting, we decided to stick with the tower defense game and prepare for our upcoming pitch presentation

2. Progress Showcase

This week, we presented the demo of our pitch presentation video, where Tian Tian Wang discussed the introduction and main concepts of the game. Ze Kai Chong explained how quantum computing concepts are implemented in the game. Mohon described how the game fits its educational purpose, while Hermanto explained the game structure. Jilai Gu presented the project milestones, and lastly, Haoyu Zhang concluded with testing.

We received some compliments, such as the video not being monotonous, being well-presented, and that everyone used pictures effectively and explained their parts well. However, we also received feedback on areas for improvement, including adding speaker names in the video, improving transitions between speakers, and including a conclusion.
